Danny

It is truly a pleasure for me to be able to say I have such a fine ^(Cardinals) boy for a friend. I hope we will continue to be friends and that you always have the best of luck.

Wee

Danny,
It's been a pleasure knowing you this year. You are truly a friend to have and to be with. You are a very nice, sweet and cute boy, so stay that way and you will get far in life. It's been a pleasure sitting with you on the bus and we have had a good times on the bus. We'll hope to see you more often so we can have some more fun.

Be Sweet & See you soon!

This has been a pictorial essay. Like any essay, its purpose is to express an idea--a day in the life of any student of South Edgcombe High School. It will be an expression from general to detailed, communal to personal. It will deal with every variation of the memories accompanying one's school behavior. In the hopes of the MACCRIPINE Staff, this essay will give a fresh look at our school.

Dedication

To a teacher . . .

To a mother . . .

To a friend . . .

To a community leader . . .

To MRS. GAYLE FELTON,

We dedicate our annual.

Attendance in class is necessary if one expects to obtain an education. But sometimes students are absent for legitimate reasons. When these students return to school they have to obtain an excused absence slip in the office.

One of the many duties that Mrs. Webb performs during her active day is handling the school's financial affairs-- this entails endless money counting and extensive bookkeeping.

Mr. Buck Massey, the assistant superintendent, obviously finds much satisfaction in his job as he shares the duties of Mr. Martin.

The acting superintendent of Edgecombe County schools, Mr. C. B. Martin, has a difficult and responsible position but Mr. Martin has effectively served Edgecombe County during the past year.

During the past few years the federal government has provided many educational funds for Edgecombe County. Much of these funds are channeled through ESEA. This office is administered by Mr. Kelly Byrum, a former teacher at West Edgecombe.

In his working day it is seldom that Mr. Lilley finds a time of solitude in his office. However, we have captured one of these rare moments as he sat in deep contemplation pondering over the problems of modern education.

Administration

Mr. Sam Brake, Edgecombe County's attendance counselor confers with Mr. Lilley as he assumes his new-found position. Mr. Brake spoke with the South Edgecombe Student Body about unnecessary absences in the first few weeks of his administration.

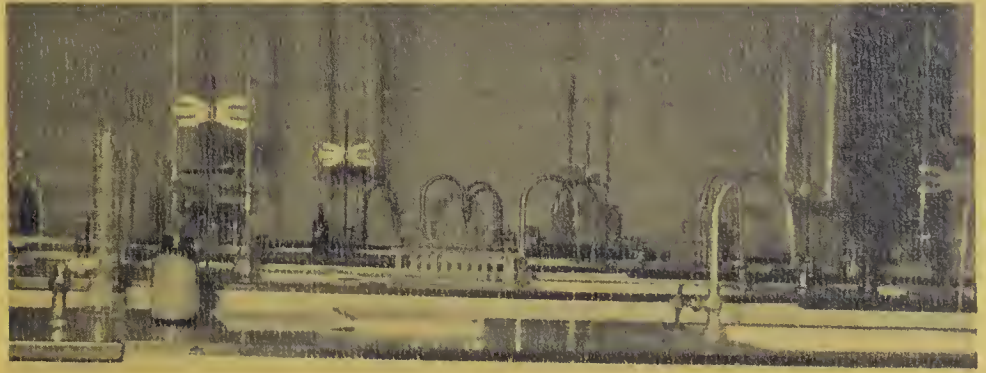

The following men: Glenwood Wooten, A. H. Lowrance, Dr. Edwin Drew, Buster Webb, John Walston, Vines Cobb, Jr. compose South Edgecombe's District Committee. These men represent the communities wishes in matters which involve making a decision about local school policy.

Here Mr. Martin and Mr. Massey are seen discussing Edgecombe County Education as they so often do together.

DEPARTMENTS

Mrs. Lovelace faithfully leads the Mixed Chorus in the preparation for their Christmas Cantata presented at South Edgecombe and their caroling at Tarrytown Mall in Rocky Mount. Other activities of the Mixed Chorus will be to sing at a P. T. A. meeting, at Graduation and Baccalaureate ceremonies.

Music

No Mixed Chorus practice would be complete without "Thank You John" presented by none other than John Walston.

"Brightly smile and sweetly sing." This year the vocal texture of the chorus has been altered by the introduction of baritone voices. The variation of tone qualities has added to the general betterment of melody.

Mrs. Jackson doesn't always smile all day long--but most people don't know it. Teaching shorthand, bookkeeping, and typing all day long is surely enough to cleanse the cheerful smile from her face. During her sixth period typing class, the smile begins to falter, though Mrs. Jackson still retains her cheerful personality.

Timed writings, timed writings, timed writings--and, endless projects, conditioning practices, maybe a little bit of goofing, and more timed writings--this is the world of Typing II.

Commercial

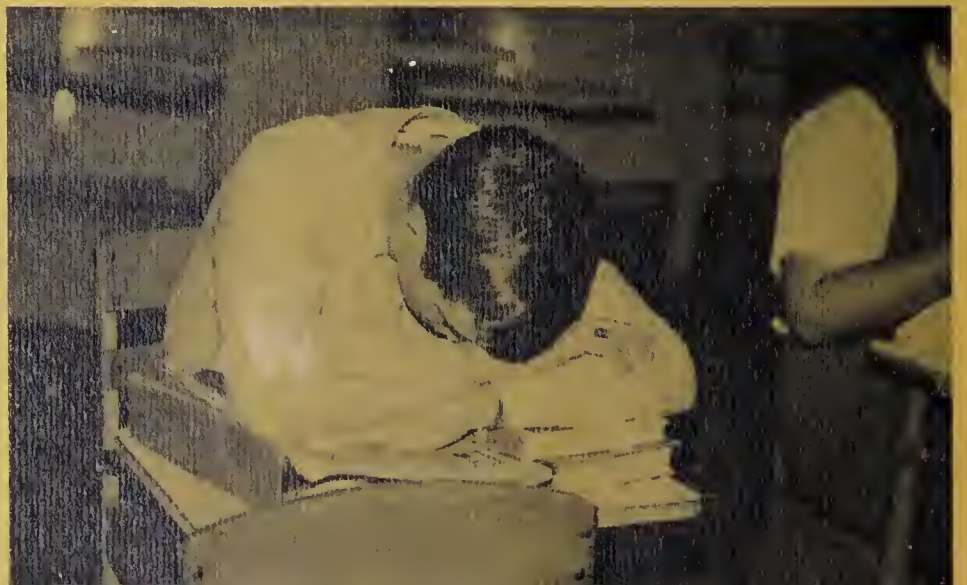

"To you it might be shorthand, but it's Greek to me" Donna remarks. However Mrs. Jackson confirms that it really is shorthand and that the class really does have a test tomorrow.

Testing is tough in Mrs. Felton's social studies classes--55 minutes of exhausting, no-pause writing. But, her essay tests measure the individual gains of each student.

Mrs. Felton always gives ample thought to questions presented to her by her classes and then answers with courage and enthusiasm.

Finally it's sixth period--it's been a long day. 3:15 is so near; the room is warm somehow Mrs. Felton's vigorous personality and the heated discussion don't affect Max--but he did have a basketball game last night.

Social Studies

Friendly discussion led by Mrs. Felton provides a comfortable, informal atmosphere for classes to discuss social studies as well as every aspect of life.

Everybody has to pass American History. For some people in this American History class, it is the second time around; nevertheless, this class is never a drag.

"All nature is but art unknown to thee;
All chance, direction, which thou canst not see;
All discord, harmony not understood." Pope

Mrs. Fuller inspires a love of nature to her science classes.

Mr. Bogue who, teaches chemistry, physical science and physics, leans back and patiently waits for an answer from one of his students.

Danny,
I am writing on a page that I fixed. It took a lot of hard work. Science to give you, and everyone at S.E. this annual. I hope you will enjoy it and cherish it even more as the years go by. Be sure you remember me. I am sure that I ~~as~~ will remember you, as you are a sweet and most friendly young man.

Mrs. Neil begins her teaching career by practice teaching in one of Mr. Bogue's physical science classes and his chemistry class.

Love ya,
Sandra Eason
(Bootie)

This equipment may look odd to some people, but to the chemistry students this apparatus symbolizes many hours spent in an under-equipped lab. It is equipment such as this that the chemistry class has used in experiments in gas laws and stoichiometry.

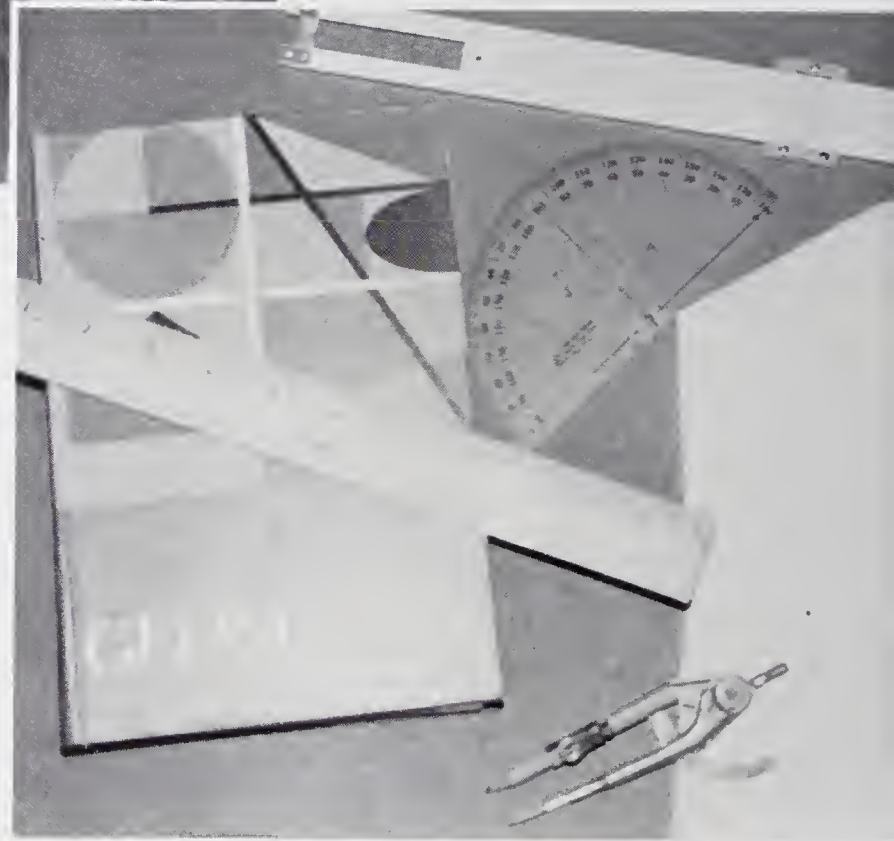

These seniors portray the intense concentration that is required in the intricate course of physics which is the study of matter and energy.

Like the eye of the hurricane --the lull in the storm, the second period physical science class CAN be peaceful and calm.

As Ben and Jerry slave over a tough math problem with all the necessary equipment, Mr. Pittman attentatively looks on to make sure that the problem is done correctly.

Math

Taking a math test can not exactly be considered a favorite pastime. These students in Mrs. Fuller's math class seem to agree.

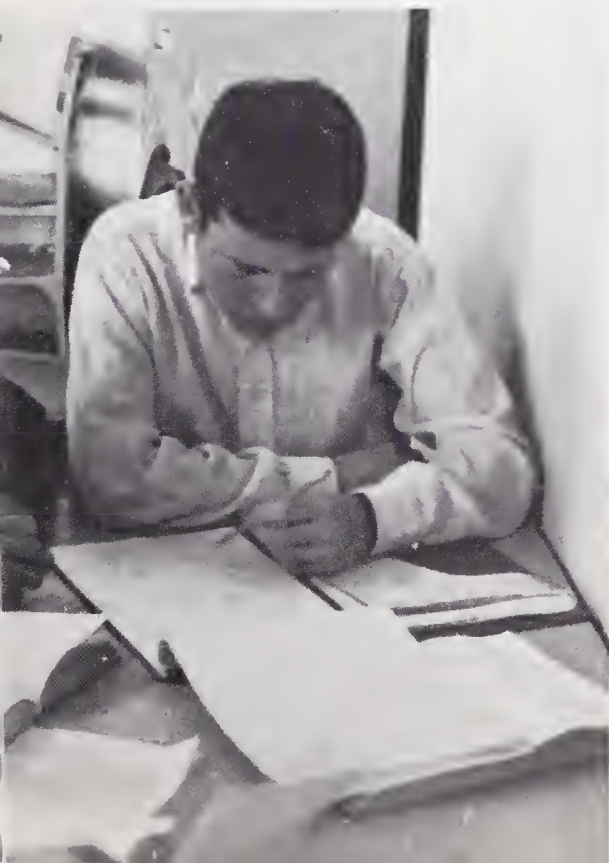

An Algebra problem which was seemingly impossible to Stanley is being cleared by Mrs. Griffin who always waits patiently to be of help to those who need her.

Mrs. Eason finds that rendering aid on an individual basis to students is an effective way to teach the students in her Geometry class. She exemplifies this idea by helping Ben Harrell with his math.

"Boy Wonder" . . . Carl Abrams, is an expert in math as well as other subjects. Here he lends his talents by helping Jerry and Sidney during their progressive Advanced Algebra class.

"Eyes--the mirror to the soul"

Language

Audible communications is not only the informal medium used in day-to-day living--it is an area of creativity. In the classroom situation, dramatic talents as well as pleasant and poised speaking voices are developed. It is in this area that enthusiasm and vitality of youth find creative outlets, and the student is gaining valuable knowledge through experience.

*LANGUAGE . . .
THE KEY TO COMMUNICATION*

Studying the English language gives the student increasing confidence--thus, the student feels more capable of expressing himself with ease in any situation.

Studying the culture of a country is imperative to understanding the people of that country. One must be able to understand the modes of living of a people in order to understand the style of expression--the language of the people.

Language has given mankind a medium of expression in all places, in all phases of living. In reading and learning other men's ideas, we are more ready to cope with life's problems.

Language

Language is the key to communication. And human communication is just as necessary to mankind as oxygen. Through study of grammar, literature and foreign language including all of the manifold areas encompassed, students lives are thus enriched in unthought of ways--they are enabled to communicate with the world and with themselves.

Mrs. Phillips teaches with a unique style. Her original self-expression circumscribes use of all aspects of communication--words, action, illustrations and drama which make her classes an unforgettable experience. On her desk, a flower symbolizes her appreciation of nature.

Mrs. Hinson's vital interest seems to infect her English students. Mrs. Hinson stresses literature, and her students are constantly required to relate various literary works to each other. Her supreme joy comes when a student relates some quotation or something he has learned in literature to his own life.

Vocational

Mrs. Noble and Mr. Bradley not only have responsibilities in the school that require their immediate attention, but they also have outside activities that they take upon themselves to perform. Both of these teachers are constantly attending meetings that will contribute to the extensive services carried out by each.

The agriculture class is relentlessly searching for odd jobs to perform around the campus. Here, an apparent clean-up operation is about to be undertaken.

Mrs. Noble is seen assigning her Home and Family class a rewarding project that will be of value to them in future years.

A familiar and daily sight at the Agriculture Department is Mr. Bradley's return from having lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Abrams. His busy day entitles him to these few minutes of freedom at the scheduled lunch hour.

Mrs. Noble, the newest addition to the Home Economics Department, always has some new and different project going to keep her classes constantly on the move.

James Earl and Leroy find that doing that needed service for the school is not only satisfying, but fun too.

"Learning by doing."

Vocational

Cooking is one of the numerous aspects of the Home Economics courses. For the most part, things run smoothly, but . . . accidents will happen.

Mr. Abrams' duties jet into every hour of every day. His days are filled not only with his teaching responsibilities, but with leadership in many civic organizations as well as the innumerable services given on a personal basis to community members.

Tool identification is one of the many phases of agriculture that challenge the minds of the Freshmen boys.

Physical Education

Trophies are physical symbols of the rewards of athletic programs, but there are the intangible rewards--stamina, strength, sportsmanship. The end products of physical education--healthy minds and bodies.

Basic fundamentals of basketball teach these freshmen girls to work under pressure. Basketball also teaches students to work as a team--to co-operate with their fellowmen.

This boys P.E. class learns the techniques of tumbling as well as many other sports. Through vigorous physical activities their bodies are prepared to meet the stringent needs of busy 1968 life.

To begin each physical education class, Mr. Pittman leads the girls in basic exercises to tone the muscles. Sometimes this exhausting beginning leaves the girls too tired for the sport which will follow.

Balance, poise, and agility of the human body are stressed in the P. E. class. No student will ever forget the "human pyramid" exercise.

Mr. Pittman spends many hours planning his classes. Organization is imperative to an effective P. E. program within a school.

Being Guidance Counselor is not an easy job. It is a responsible, "all the time" job that involves one in the lives of many. Mr. Tyer looks out into morning sunshine into which the lives of these young will travel, wondering if he is helping to point them in the right direction, and hoping that he will have the wisdom and courage to fulfill his mission.

Rising Seniors, Tommie Stallings and Jimmie Williford listen eagerly as Mr. Tyer explains and suggests colleges and schools which provide adequate backgrounds in the boys' chosen areas of study.

Guidance

Got a problem? Want to make a confession or just simply talk "down-to-earth" with someone who can and wants to understand your feelings, thoughts, and actions? Then the person to talk to is Mrs. Eason, young, patient, and sympathizing, the new member of our Guidance Department.

ACTIVITIES

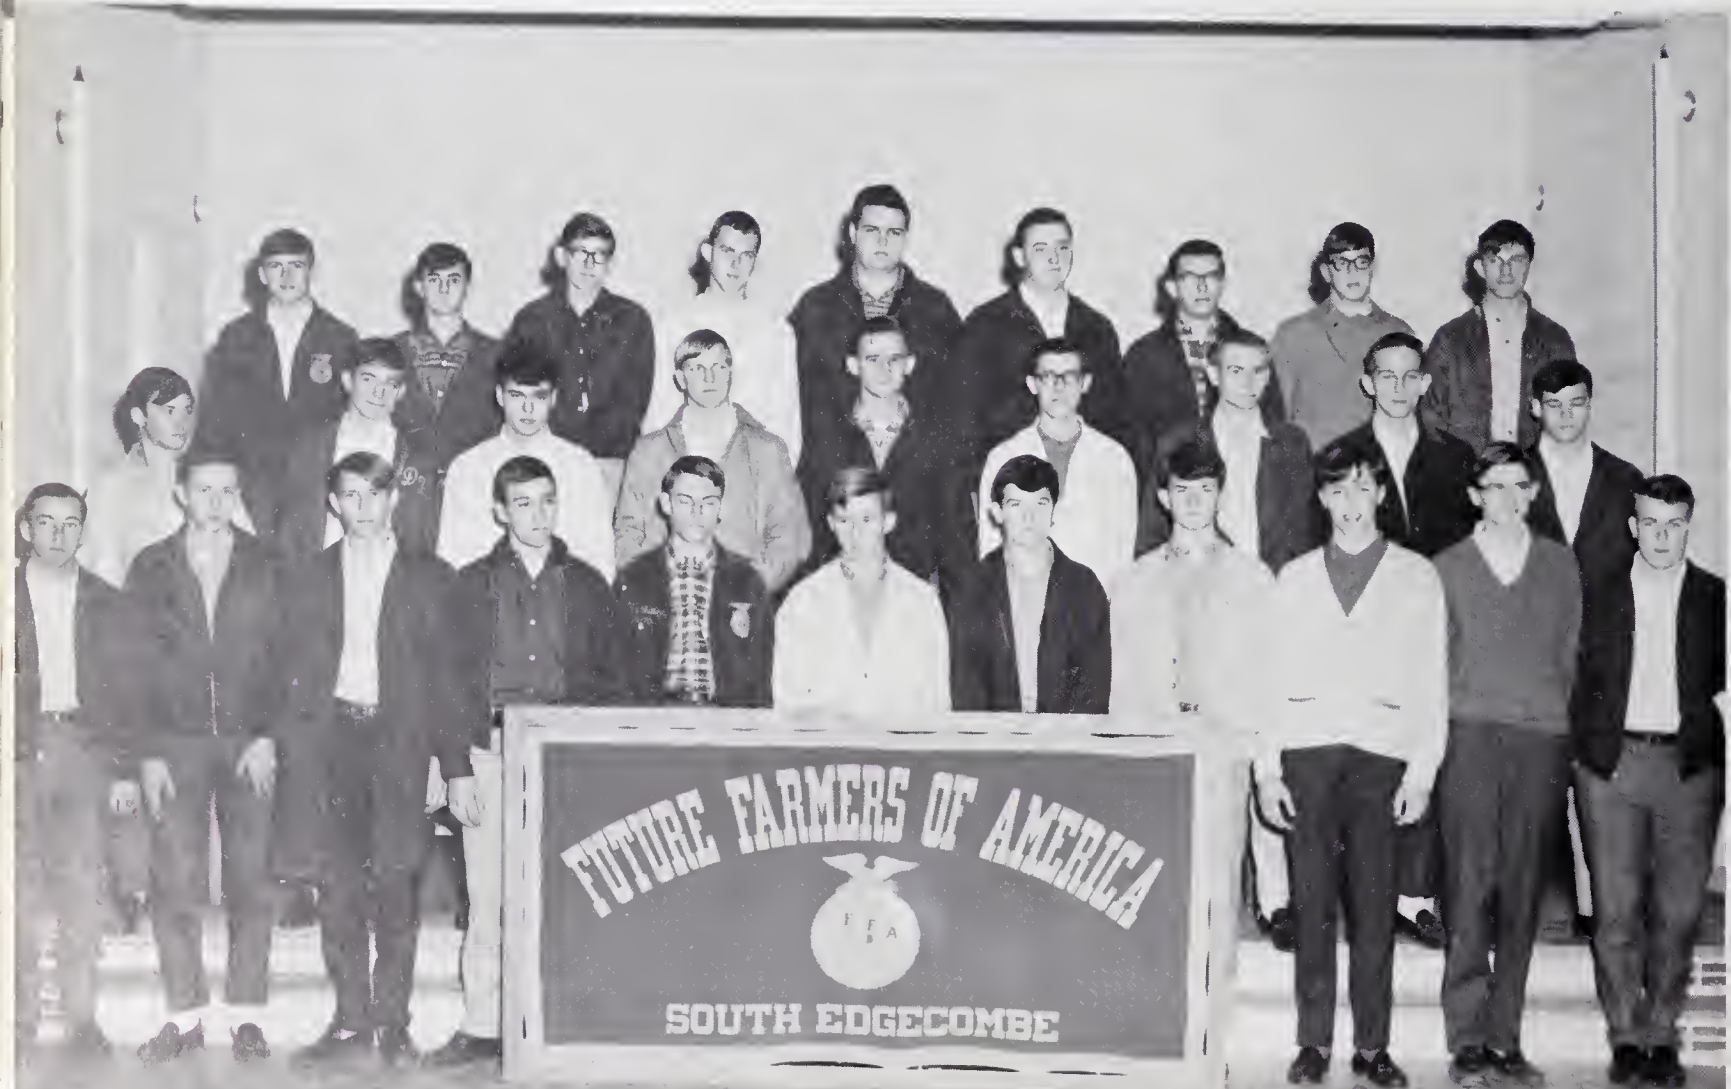

Assembled in the ag classroom behind the F. F. A. ceremonial paraphernalia are the officers and committee chairmen who form the executive committee.

Future Farmers Of America

Chapter President FFA Sweetheart

Ricky Edwards, as President of the South Edgecombe F. F. A. Chapter, has many responsibilities and his aggressive leadership has helped him meet the challenge.

Ruth's charm and personality won the hearts of the F. F. A. members as they selected her for the honor of Chapter Sweetheart.

LEARNING TO DO

The members of Mr. Bradley's freshmen agriculture class practice the parliamentary procedure they have studied in the textbook. Exercises such as this one provide a valuable learning experience.

EARNING TO LIVE

DOING TO LEARN

LIVING TO SERVE

The new building being erected this year will house a new vocational agriculture department and also the F.F.A. will have a new home.

A member of the F. F. A. must be enrolled in a vo-ag course and in those courses principles are applied. Here Robert Brown and David Phillips work on the fuse box in the Head House.

Every other Monday the F. F. A. meets during activity period in the lunchroom. Before business is considered, the officers and Mr. Bradley give an impressive ceremony. The members then conduct business in a professional manner though experience in parliamentary procedure.

Future Homemakers Of America

An executive meeting finds all of the officers of the FHA planning a future meeting for the club. Led by Merle Fleming, President; Susan Harrell, Photographer; Anita Stallings, Parliamentarian; Helen Webb, Treasurer; Sandra Eason, Vice-President; Martha Cobb, Pianist; Beth Webb, Secretary; Sandra Shelton, Recreational Leader, and Gatsy Owens, Historian; the club is spurred on to greater activity.

Karen Webb and Janice Harrell work to benefit the club as they attempt to sell a cookbook to Mrs. Wyatt Stallings of Pinetops. Making money is important to any club.

Leroy Turner was elected by the FHA to serve as Prince for the chapter. Leroy works with the FHA and FFA throughout the year as the clubs plan their activities.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Noble, the FHA has created an interest in the minds of its members. Mrs. Noble is shown as she assists Judy Wooten, Chris Brown, Mary Ellen Brown, and Estelle Sessoms during class.

"Toward New Horizons" is the motto of the Future Homemakers of America. The South Edgecombe Chapter strives to reach these new horizons by their varied activities that the F.H.A. has planned for this year will fulfill the goals of the motto, and will help each girl to become a better homemaker.

Helping others is a rewarding experience. The girls in the Home and Family Life class were well rewarded as they helped the boys of the class to learn to sew.

As a project to help the school, the FHA offered their assistance at the P. T. A. Supper. In the picture above, Sandra Shelton and Sylvia Whitfield are helping by serving the patrons.

This fall, all of the interested Senior girls participated in the Betty Crocker Better Homemaker of Tomorrow Test. The highest score in our school was attained by Anita Stallings. Merle Fleming pins the award on for Anita as she adds her congratulations.

Mary Lou Walston, Jo Beth Webb, and Zora Drake are all absorbed in their work. These girls worked many hours during study hall to prepare Christmas Decorations.

Science Club

Mrs. Fuller, Science Club adviser, ponders the numerous steps which are a part of sulfur refining while on a trip to Texas Gulf Sulfur.

The officers of the Science Club pause amid the interesting trip to Texas Gulf Sulfur to inspect one of its purifying plants. The officers are Debra Thorne, Secretary-Treasurer; Wanda Webb, Representative; Jackie Whitlark, Reporter; Mona Gardner, President; and Max Gardner, Vice-President.

Here the Constitution Committee, Martha Lowrance, Vickie Sue Walters, and Sandra Eason, discuss changes in the Science Club's constitution.

As secretary of the Beta Club, Martha Lowrance keeps all monetary matters straight and writes to obtain hotel reservations for the convention. Here she is writing minutes of the meeting.

As advisor, Mrs. Eason guides the Beta Club in money-raising projects and helps select worthwhile service projects such as collecting for a White Cane drive. Here she adds her suggestion to a discussion at the monthly meeting.

Beta Club

The greatest effort of the Beta Club is spent in raising money for the convention to be held in Raleigh this year. Money is raised by paying dues and selling candy. Here Vickie Sue has sold another canister of candy to aid the cause.

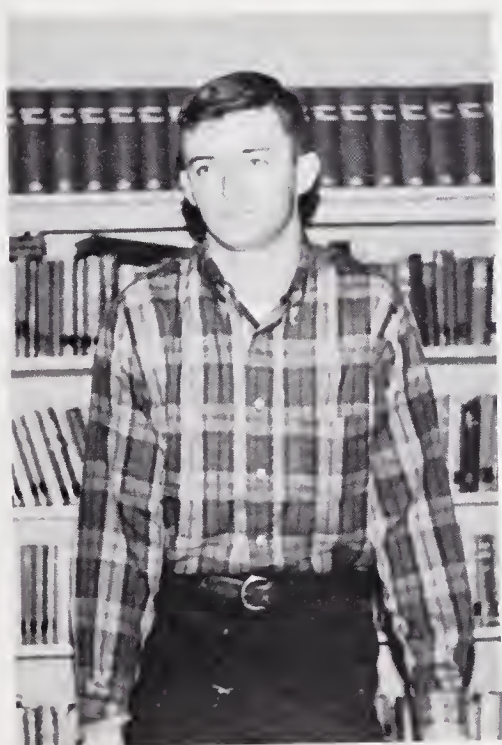

Membership in the Beta Club is achieved through many hours of study. Wallace Horton realizes that he must continue to study if he is to remain in the club.

The Beta Club is comprised of the scholastic leaders of South Edgecombe who have achieved academic success in the classroom. Their abilities have been challenged and extended and will carry them far in life.

Beta Club Is For . . .

Leadership

Character

Service

One of the most essential duties of the MACCRIPINE STAFF is the solicitation of advertisements. The task requires the efforts of each member in order to bring the annual to you, the subscriber, at a lower cost. Above Jackie Whitlark, Rejeaner Hamilton, and Max Gardner are pictured as they secure an "ad" from Mr. Crisp of the Red and White of Pinetops.

"I surrender!" hollers Martha Lowrance as she throws up her arm to protect herself from the blows of Tommie Stallings' pointer. Though Annual Staff entails much work, there is time found for fun and nonsense.

Annual Staff

Everyone wants a few minutes to "chatter" before the work of an Annual Staff meeting begins. The members of the staff enjoy a few minutes of leisure time--before Mr. Bogue arrives.

After each staff member has composed inspiring captions to interest the reader, these captions must be typed onto the layouts. Carl Abrams and Carol Lovelace work at the typewriter as Jerry Bridgers points out needed changes.

"I found it!" Sandra Eason squeals with delight as she finally locates a missing "ad". Sandra Eason, Mitsy Fly and Marianne Jefferson work to complete the "ad" section of the annual.

Editor of the MACCRIPINE is a job of much responsibility. Wat Brown must know much about the practices used to make the annual an invaluable yearbook, to its subscribers. He is shown as he helps Al Lovelace to crop a picture.

"What in the world has she done?" Mr. Bogue wonders as Carol Lovelace tries to explain one of her layouts. Though Wat offers much assistance, Mr. Bogue has a difficult, yet rewarding experience with the staff of the MACCRIPINE.

Mr. Bogue works below to explain to Anita Stallings and Merle Fleming the fundamentals of planning a layout.

Democracy In Action

These pictures represent an essay on action --democracy in action. Here is an essay on the ever-rotating cycle of campaign, voting, . . . office. Here is an essay on student participation, student co-operation, student anticipation. Here is an essay on our school's election procedures and techniques. And our student government, like this essay, when successfully used, will EXPLAIN--the will of the student.

Our Student Council At Work

Our Student Government Advisor, Mrs. Gayle Felton, offers well-accepted advice on the paving of the parking area, to the Student Council.

The Student Government Association of the South Edgecombe School discusses many phases of school life. The council is necessary to the students in that it gives him a voice in the operation of our school.

Sidney Harrell, President of our Student Government Association, is seen here as he calls our regular meeting to order.

The newly formed Advisory Council reviews a case of a student who has committed offensive acts against our school. The Advisory Council tries to offer suggestions to the principal for punishment. In this way, again the students have a voice in the punishment of fellow students.

Here the Mixed Chorus is pictured singing at its annual Christmas concert. Many hours of hard work, including numerous study halls devoted to perfecting the songs, were rewarded by the compliments of the audience for a job well done.

Mixed Chorus

Carol Lovelace and Elsie Winstead, accompanists for the Mixed Chorus, are two of its hardest working members. These girls devote countless numbers of hours to learning the music which the chorus sings.

The entry of the Mixed Chorus at its Christmas concert was a very impressive scene. The candlelight ceremony was a very inspiring addition to the concert.

This year the Mixed Chorus gave their director, Mrs. Jean Lovelace, a Christmas gift as a token of appreciation for the dedicated service which she so unselfishly gave to them. Here Donna Harrell, President of the chorus, presents the gift as Nita Allen, Treasurer; David Phillips, Secretary; Marianne Jefferson, Vice-President; Jackie Whitlark, Representative; and Lynn Webb, Reporter, look on.

Mass confusion is the scene before the chorus members settle down to the business of learning songs to be sung at various occasions to which they are invited to sing.

Mixed Chorus

The Quartemotes, a group selected for their outstanding singing abilities, are gathered around the piano to go over their songs in an effort to improve their performances.

The librarians John Walston, Brenda Moore, Gwen Braswell, and Ann Wiliford, distribute music to the chorus members and see that it is returned to its proper place.

Homecoming candidates are chosen first by their respective classes and then by the popular vote of the student body. Here the candidates are shown after the results of the election were announced.

Homecoming

Although everyone could not win, each was a winner to have been nominated. Here Ricky Edwards and Jane Love, Senior class Prince and Princess, accept roses as court members.

The school seal, designed and painted by South Edgcombe students, was one of the contributing factors to the success of the homecoming decorations.

Homecoming is the joint effort of the Student Council and the Monogram Club. Mrs. Felton, adviser of the Student Council; Mr. Pittman, Monogram Club adviser; and Mr. Norfleet Sugg, master of ceremonies; confer on last minute preparations for the long awaited night.

'67-'68

All work and no play makes a successful Homecoming. These able-bodied members of the student body arrived ready and eager to work with holes in their blue jeans and left exhausted with paint in their hair. The gym was appropriately decorated for the theme, "Thanks to the Booster Club." Their industrious efforts were rewarded by the alumni.

Homecoming is an event for the alumni of South Edgcombe. Here Lynn Webb, Chairman of the Alumni Committee, is seen holding the registry while a former student registers under the appropriate year.

As always, there are last minute adjustments before any play is given. Carol Lovelace, Drama Club President, is directing the arrangement of props on the stage by John Walston, Vice-President; Betty Jean Varnell, Secretary-Treasurer; Al Lovelace, Reporter; and Phil Harrell, Student Council Representative. Their diligent work will pay off in their play being well received by the student body.

Drama Club

"What is it this time?" Bobby Sox sarcastically asks of Margie.

"Blow, Martha, Blow, put some feeling behind it." says Mrs. Hinson, one of the valuable Drama Club advisers.

"What is this, a nightmare!" asks Mr. Hanna of the unknown boy behind the couch.

Future Teachers Of America

In the fall, the F.T.A. visited the School of the Deaf in Wilson. There they saw the living and eating quarters of the students and had the rare privilege of sitting in on a class of deaf children who were learning to speak.

The F.T.A. officers, Rejeanor Hamilton, President; Deborah Webb, Vice-President; Mitsy Fly, Treasurer; Bonner Phillips, Secretary; and Carol Lovelace, Reporter, are preparing to leave for one of the many trips the F.T.A. has taken this year.

During the year, all F.T.A. members are required to have a service project to aid teachers in the high school as well as the elementary building. The two pictures at the right demonstrate the willingness to help our teachers at South Edgecombe.

The FBLA is composed of girls who are interested in becoming better acquainted with the business world. At the left, part of the FBLA is shown at a meeting.

One of Marian Abrams' chief responsibilities as President of the FBLA is to conduct the meetings of the club. At the right, she presides over one of the regular meetings of the club.

Being an editor has its time consuming tasks. For Lynn Webb, one of these is to proofread each page of the SE COMBE ECHOES before it is printed.

F.B.L.A.

She's at it again--counting the money to see if the FBLA will be able to attend the state convention this spring. As Adviser, Mrs. Jackson works diligently for the FBLA.

The officers of the FBLA have been caught as they plan another session of the FBLA. The officers Marian Abrams, President; Belinda Cobb, Vice-President; Ruth Bridgers, Secretary; Mitsy Fly, Treasurer; Anita Stallings, Parliamentarian; Jane Love, Reporter; and Donna Harrell; Representative, work out a meeting for the club.

Before the students receive the school paper, it must be run off on the mimeograph machine. This is one of the jobs of the Paper Staff. Below, Deborah Webb and Anita Stallings work to run off papers to sell to the students.

The Paper Staff works hard to get out each edition of the school paper on time. Above, each member of the staff works on her part of the school paper.

The bus drivers of South Edgecombe travel approximately 400 miles per day and transport 702 students to and from school. The duty of the bus driver is to keep the bus clean, fill out the monthly reports, and transport all students to and from school. They are as follows: Merle Fleming, Ed Stokes, Marianne Jefferson, Mahlon Webb, Larry Winchester, Anne Webb, Max Gardner, Stanley Morris, Doug Wallace, Leroy Turner, James Earl Bullock, Larry Harris, and Jerry Bridgers.

Bus Drivers

The bus drivers have numerous duties, but for Jerry Bridgers, one of these is to assist Linda Jefferson as she gets off and on the bus. Jerry helps Linda on the bus in the morning and off in the afternoon. Because of polio, Linda is unable to get on and off the bus by herself.

Mr. Poole illustrates expert instructions to Tommie Stallings who is attempting to secure bus license. We owe the safe driving record of South Edgecombe to men like Mr. Poole, who are trained to give bus license to those who are capable of driving the bus safely.

Marshals 66-67

Wat Brown, Chief; and Carl Abrams share the honor of leading the Seniors into the auditorium for the final time.

Though there is much honor in the title of Marshal, the privilege entails some work and responsibility. Previous to the graduation exercises, the Marshals serve as errand boys for the Seniors. One of the tasks of the Marshals is to fold programs as they are doing in the picture above.

"Ready and waiting" depicts the story told before the introductions are made. Each Junior and Senior anxiously awaits the moment when he will be introduced and become a part of a memorable night.

Prior to the introductions, each couple entered under an archway of ivy and roses and walked down the short garden path. Before journeying on towards the majestic fountain, couples halted to be introduced at the end of the path.

Standing beside the flowing fountain of memories, Max and Evonne are each spellbound by the flowing ripples. This single night of only a few hours will create beautiful soft memories in the minds of many couples.

Junior— Senior Prom

Thanks to the efforts of many students and mothers, the candlelit table was a beautiful sight. The varied tidbits were greatly enjoyed by the many thirsty couples.

In order to execute the chosen theme of a garden scene, Wat Brown and Martii Skinner designed and artistically applied to one entire wall of the Multi-Purpose Room, the garden scene pictured above. Many hours of work went into this scene to make it a focal point.

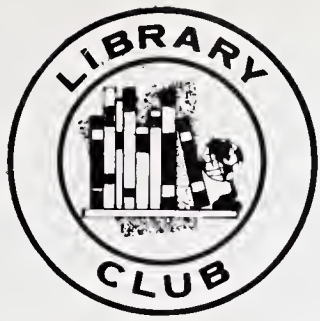

The Athletic Banquet of 1967 sponsored by the South Edgecombe Boosters' Club was a huge success and the evening was high-lighted by an entertaining speech given by N. C. University head coach, Norman Sloan. Here Mr. Pittman and Mr. Eason talk basketball with an expert.

These people are members of the Monogram Club because of their participation and interest in sports, whether it be basketball, baseball, or cheerleading. The students are proud of these athletes for their success on the court and field for their winning ways.

Monogram Club

Here the officers of the Monogram Club have a frolicking good time as they clean-up the gym in preparation for home basketball games. The officers are Jerry Bridgers, President; Becky Lane, Vice President; and Jackie Whitlark, Secretary.

The Library Club officers.

Aside from their other duties of checking out books, filing their cards, and straightening magazines; Alice and Joyce, two librarians, willingly help students find books.

In the library a great deal of one's time is spent in searching for a suitable book. I wonder if Judy has found her book?

Our very dedicated high school librarian, Mrs. Griffin, is always kept busy filing new cards in the card catalogue and ordering new books and library equipment. She does this aside from her regular teaching schedule.

The members of the Library Club sacrifice one study hall a week to aid Mrs. Griffin in the checking out and maintenance of our library.

The cheerleaders of South Edgecombe play an important part in the school's sport program. Their loyalty, enthusiasm and untiring energy has cheered the Dragons and Dragonettes on to victory many times. These energetic girls are: Sharon Moseley, Beth Webb, Becky Lane, Diane Whitley, Chief; Debbie Owens, Patricia Webb, Karen Webb, and Pat Brown substitute. Diane Whitley is the only Senior on the squad this year, and is serving as chief.

Cheerleaders

For the first time in many years, the cheerleaders are assisted by a mascot, Miss Susan Lewis. For a five-year-old, Susan has learned the cheers rather well. She knows not only the words to all the cheers, but the actions also. Susan is present at all games and helps in promoting school spirit. Susan's vim and vigor gives the players as well as the cheerleaders the "get up and go" that they need, to pull through a tough game.

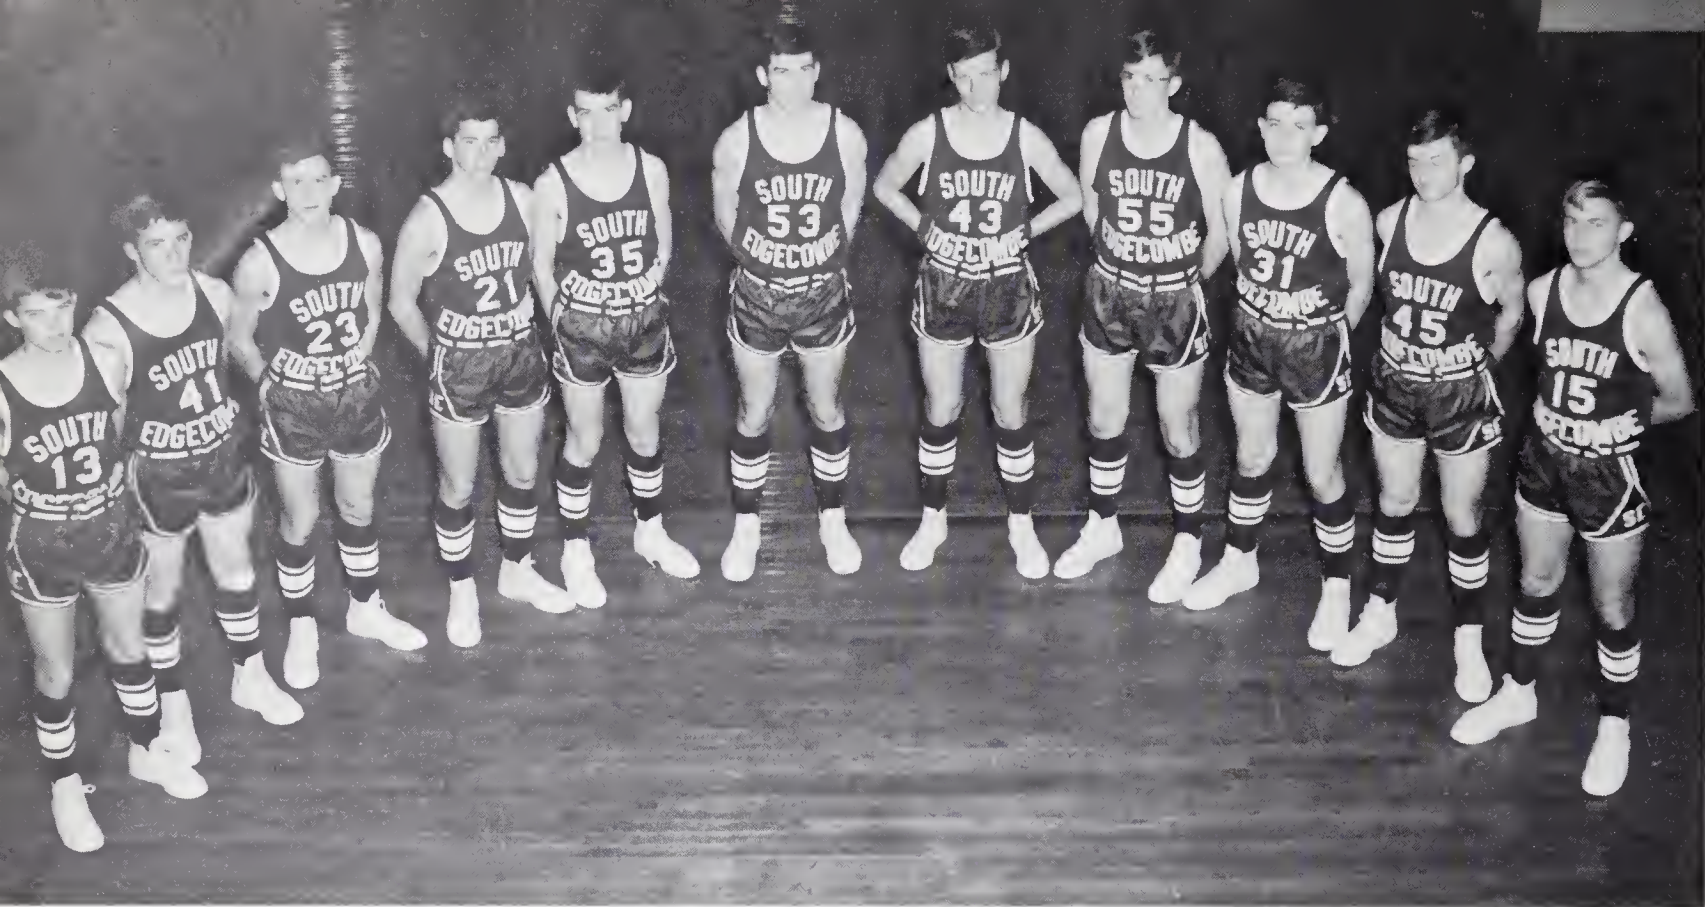

DO WE LOVE THOSE DRAGONS!

Mary Lou Walston, Emily Gardner, Rhonda Spain, Beth Webb, Chief; Vonne Taylor, Carol Proctor, and Anne Williford cheer the junior varsity to victory.

ATHLETICS

Several boys are returning this year to lead the team to a successful season. The coach and the team are optimistic as they look back to last year's record when they won the tri-county contest. Leroy Turner, Gerald Morgan, Jerry Bridgers and Max Gardner are the starting Seniors this year.

Boys

Co-Captains Gerald Morgan and Wes Webb meet with co-captains of the other team and referees to discuss points pertaining to the game.

In an all-important time out Coach Pittman discusses game winning strategy with the Dragons. Such time outs have gotten the Dragons out of tight spots.

During the excitement of the Homecoming game between South Edgecombe Dragons and Rock Ridge Rams, Max Gardner and Jerry Bridgers attempt to clear the lane as Leroy Turner drives in for two points.

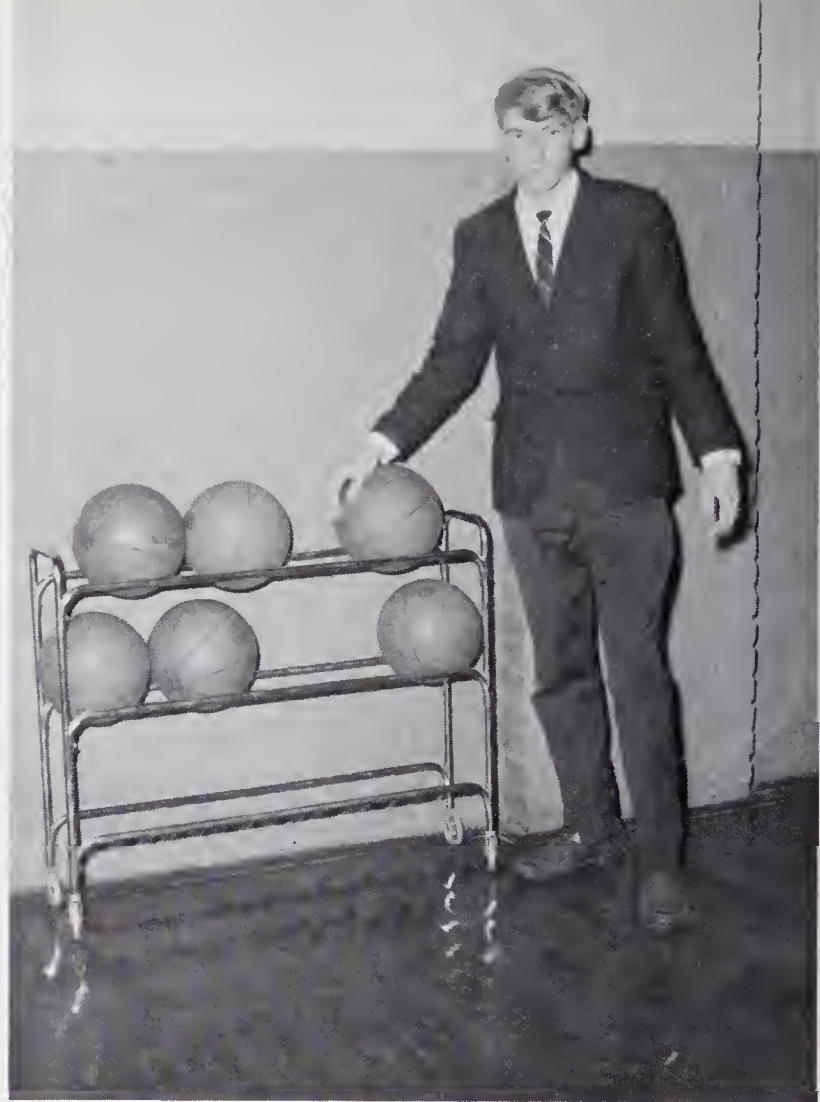

Basketball

Gerald Morgan strives for two points after recovering an offensive rebound.

Max Gardner and Jerry Bridgers block out opposing players as they use teamwork to capture an offensive rebound.

John Walston steps out to receive a pass from Wallace Horton, despite efforts of the defense.

Manager Webster Williams has many important tasks during games and practice. Here he keeps the ball rack in order.

Gerald Morgan hustles to steal the ball from Number 21 of Rock Ridge.

Billy Harrison finds the open spot as he goes up in an effort to put two points up on the scoreboard.

Bobby Webb and Max Gardner expect a possible pass as Jerry Bridgers brings down a rebound for South Edgecombe.

Max Gardner reaches in vain for a loose ball, but Gerald Morgan rushes in the background to save it.

Tommie Stallings is pictured doing one of his important tasks, calling in the results of the Dragons' ball games to the local papers.

"Flying anyone?" questions Leroy Turner as he "accidentally" fouls an opponent shooting a lay-up.

Jr. Varsity

This year's Freshman team has many promising boys with height and ability. In future years we hope they will provide South Edgecombe with many winning teams.

Dudley Etheridge fakes his man in an attempt to drive toward the basket.

Barry Suggs, assisted by Mike Wooten, uses his height advantage to control the backboards.

Jack Ellis, the pivot man, illustrates his strategic position in a play during the game.

A number of boys have graduated from last year's team but their replacements are promising and hope to uphold or even improve last year's record.

Coach Pittman warms up the infield by hitting sharp grounders just before a game.

Danny,
 You are a quiet and pleasant person, and it has been a pleasure knowing you. Keep lifting those weights and no one will ever push you around.

Jerry Bridges

Each player loosens his arms up in order to be at the peak of his performance when the game begins.

Four of the starting line up listen to last minute instructions from Coach Pittman.

Girls Basketball

Debbie Webb, number 42, springs from the floor to grab an essential rebound while Anne Webb hastens eagerly to aid her. The Dragonettes have relied tremendously on rebounds this year which always proves to be a decisive factor in a basketball game.

Jump ball! Jump ball! Get it! Get it! As these lyrics ring out in the crowded gym, Merle Fleming and Donna Harrell battle for the ball, which has just been tapped. Betty Jean Varnell moves in to help.

Players listen diligently while Coach Louis Eason briefs the team on drills and maneuvers.

Susan Harrell executes man-to-man defense as the opposing team struggles to take the ball down court.

As Donna Harrell completes a baseline drive with a righthand lay-up, two points flash on the scoreboard. Jackie Whitlark moves in with a follow shot or possible rebound.

These four pictures simulate the arduous work it took by the tough defense and the aggressive offense to gain victory.

Four of the first string girls who helped the team win second place in the conference tournament last season have returned to this years team to boost the team off to a winning start. The team looks forward to a successful 1968 season.

The dedicated Coach Louis Eason, in his three years of coaching, has lead the girls' team from near defeat to over-whelming victory. In his excitement over winning the game, he throws a nearby towel.

Below: Martha Lowrance, Manager finds that basketball calls for immediate attention to the girls on first string, who require a water break at each time-out. This devoted worker spends her afternoons at the gym during practice, rendering first-aid from aspirin to tapes.

Juniors

Who can forget that sixteenth year? The memory of that nervous session and the memories that accompany being a Junior. Some of the Juniors have the privilege of driving to and from school. As 3:15 approaches, this is the scene of the "calm before the storm."

With the new lobby going up on our campus, no one more eagerly awaits its completion than the Juniors. As RISING Seniors, they are extremely proud of the new addition to our gymnasium. The lobby will provide concession space and bathroom facilities for basketball fans.

As the end of school and graduation draws near, our Senior Class officers take time to reminisce by looking through the annuals that cover their four years in High School. They are; Marianne Jefferson, Secretary; Rejeanor Hamilton, Treasurer; Martha Lowrance, President; Gerald Langley, Vice-President; and Belinda Cobb, Reporter.

To some Seniors, graduation is a time of happiness and relief. But to others the thought of leaving friends is saddening. With the passing of time comes not only advancements in our intellectual abilities, but also our physical plant. Though we might not be able to use this new science and vocational building, we are pleased to see it being added to our campus at SEHS.

Each year outstanding Senior boys are nominated for Morehead Scholarships. These awards provide for the total cost of four years study at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. This year Jerry Bridgers had the honor of representing South Edgecombe as a county nominee. As preparation for his interview with the selection committee, Jerry underwent a series of practice interviews with Mrs. Felton and Mrs. Eason, Senior advisers.

One of the bright spots in our Senior year is our Mascot. Alice Porter Cobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Cobb and Aubrey York, son of Mrs. Gertie C. York, have added much to our last year at SHS. Alice Porter is a pretty talented miss of five who fascinated us by her performance at the piano. Aubrey is a handsome witty youngster of five also, who won the hearts of all the Seniors with his "singing ability." We have enjoyed their bright smiles and youthful antics throughout the year.

Two OUTSTANDING Seniors, Carol Lovelace and Sidney Harrell complete applications for the colleges they hope to attend.

Senior class Treasurer, Rejeanor Hamilton, appears to be hard at work keeping up with the money she collected for our invitations. As you can see, neatness is one of her best assets!

Danny,
 It's been a real joy seeing you at school this year. Even though you worry me to death sometimes,
 I still think you are a sweet and very nice boy. I hope to see you next year.
 Best of luck to a

A yearbook--an annual representation of a school, a representation of laughter, tears, study--work . . . memories--this is our annual.

And as an annual, this book is a gift of a battered staff--to all of whom I give sincere thanks for their hours of work.

And as an annual, this book is a gift of the patrons and of the merchants who advertise, all of whom give their willing support. To these I give sincere thanks.

And as an annual, this book is a gift of our adviser, who prodded and PUSHED the work and imagination from the staff--and gave moral support in time of crisis. To him I express much thanks.

Take this gift and use it wisely, for it will be priceless in years to come!

Hey There
from Danny

Danny,
It's been fun going to school with
you. I hope to see you in future years.
You are a very nice, sweet boy. (I think) Good luck with your girlfriend (whoever she is). Best wishes!

A friend,
Rhonda Spain

Danny,
It has been a pleasure going to school with you this year.
You are a sweet boy and your personality will take you far.
I hope to see you in the future years.
"Best of Luck"
Vonne

Hi Danny,
It has been great being in your rooms. You're so witty & we have had a lot of fun, especially in Algebra I. Hope to see you 3 more years.
And more if it takes.
See you!
Ann

Danny,
You're the sorriest,
low down, no good
best friend you could ask for. To call you a friend is an honor!
Best of everything in the future!

Barry

Danny
 I have enjoyed
 being in your classes this year, and especially while playing in the junior varsity. I hope in the future for the next three years. Good luck in the future to a friend.

Dear Amy,
 It has been a pleasure
 having lunch with you in Algebra and being in your classes. You are the kind of guy who will be fun in life. I have had some good times together
 from A.P.A.
 Kenneth S.

Danny
 I have enjoyed knowing you these past school years. You are a sweet person with a good humorous way around you. Keep it up! I hope you find the right person for you.
 Best of everything.

A friend always!
 Deborah Womble

Danny,
I have ~~so~~ really enjoyed getting to know you this year, in Algebra. You are such a sweet person & fun to be around, but I guess all Crisps are like that? I hope to see you alot
next year. Behave yourself this summer.

a good friend
of yours,

P.S. Don't forget
me this summer.

Connie

Danny,
I have really enjoyed seeing you this past year of our high school. You are a very nice, cute,
good looking boy.
I have enjoyed
talking to you on the telephone and remember way
back of me & you
I enjoyed that the most.

Good Luck to a deserving
good-looking boy.
